Fan Facts

When the temperature increases in your surroundings, the cooling effects of fans are limited. Fans will not prevent heat illness when the temperature is in the high 90s. It is important to follow these recommendations:

DO...

- Use a fan only when the windows are open or the air conditioner is on.
- Use your fan in or next to a window. Box fans are best.
- Use a fan to bring in the cooler air from outside or to blow the hot air from the inside to the outside.
- Use your fan by plugging it directly into the wall outlet. If you need an extension cord, it should be UL (Underwriter Laboratories) approved.

DON'T...

- Don't use a fan in a closed room without windows or doors open to the outside?
- Don't believe that fans cool air. They don't. They just move the air around. Fans keep you cool by evaporating your sweat.
- Don't use a fan to blow extremely hot air on yourself. This can cause heat exhaustion to happen faster. If you're afraid to open your window to use a fan, choose other ways to keep cool. See the tips on: Keep Your Cool during Summer Heat.
